HONGKONG, JANUARY 4rm. 1890. AT Singapore an important step has been belp to poor and sick Chinese," taken in the establishment of a Chinese Advisory Board. Some time ago an Ordinance was passed absolutely suppressing Secret Societies -- with a proviso for exemption in certain cases—the Societies simed at being the Chinese organisations. The terday and is due her on the 10th inst. Ordinance did not pass supposed. The members of Council were of opinion that the Societies, however objectionable they might be from one point of "Molly Bawn," "Phyllis," "The Duchess," &c. view, nevertbeless performed some useful functions, and that their total suppression was altogether too drastic a measure. The New Oriental Bank Corporation, Limited, for Governor, Sir CECIL SMITH, when asked what he was going to put in place of these organisations, replied " Nothing." A story is going the rounds which is too goo o be buried in the oblivion of the country press At a London West-End reception one the greatest of our living notresses was reciting a story, in thirteen verses, describing amongst other things the agony of a muiden who is watching her lover struggling with death in the turbid waters of a torrent beneath her feet. The maiden's cry. "Help! help!" was so realistically rendered that the army of footmen and waiters downstairs thought the house was on fire, and came rushing up with buckets of water and hand grenades to put it out!

There is a sleeping girl now at Alainoaut, in the Department of the Oise, in France, who is favours the extensive use of foreign methods in Boulevard Charner, which is now filled up again, likely to puzzle the physicians. Her slumber is is worked into a great thoroughfare, which is not that of one in a peaceful trance, but is agi ated like that of a person under the influence of a nightmare, or the "blues." For the past nine days she has been plunged into this strange somnolency, during which she sometimes beats herself on the head and breast and utters incoherent and unintelligible exclamations. Bouillon is now, and then poured down her throat when she opens her mouth, and, by this means she is kept alive. The girl, who is twenty years old, and a farm-servant, has had brief fits of drowsine s before, but none of them lasted so long as that in which she is plunged at present. The local deplors are completely nonplussed by this str. ge case, and expect that the unnatural sleep will be followed by death.

An old soldier, gin-soaked and garrulous, was in the habit of frequently dropping into the sauctum of an editor and pesteriog him with steries about his old campaigns and battles. One day he came just as the editor was in the bustle of " going to press," and with the generous but ill-timed desire of giving information for au article on modern warfare. It is hardly necessary to add that the future member for Northampton did not tamely submit to the trick that had been played him, and that in the event, though he could not be retransferred to the East Indian service, he was allowed his choice of the home regiments, with the result that he entered the

TEN MONTHS SUFFERING IN A HOSPITAL.

There is an old saying that physicians are a class of men who bour drugs, of which they know little, into bedies of which they know less. This is both true and untrue at the same time poor doctors. The trouble with these medical gentlemen as a profession is that they are clannish, and apt to be conceited. They don't like to be beaten at their own trade by outsiders who have never studied medicing. They therefore pay, by their frequent failures, the penaltyof refusing instruction unless the teacher bears their own "Hall Mark."-

An eminent physician-Dr. Brown-Sequard, of Paris—states the fact accurately when he says: "The medical profession are so bound up in their self-confidence and concoit that they allow the diamond truths of science to be picked up by persons entirely outside their ranks." We give a most interesting incident, which linstrates this important truth.

The steamship "Concordia," of the Donaldson ine, sailed from Glasgew for Baltimore in 1887, having on board as a firemen a man named Richard Wade, of Glasgow. He had been a fireman for fourteen years on various ships sailing to America, Ching, and India. He had borne the hard and exhausting labour, and had been healthy and strong. On the trip we now name he began for the first time to feel weak and ill. His appetite failed, and he suffered from drowsiness, heartbarn, a bad taste in the mouth, and costiveness and irregularity, of the boweis. Sometimes when at work he had attacks of giddiness, but supposed it to be caused by the heat of the fire-room. Quite often he was sick and felt like vomiting, and had some pain in the head. Later during the passage he grew worse, and when the ship reached Halifax he was placed in the Victoria General Hospital, and the ship sailed away without him. The house surgeon gave him some powders to stop the vomiting, and the next day the visiting physician gave him a mixture to take every four hours. Within two days Wade was so much worse that the doctors stopped both the powders and the mixture. A month passed, the poor fireman getting worse and worse.

Then came another doctor, who was to be visiting physician for the next fit months. He gave other medicines, but not much relief. Nearly all that time Wade suffered great torture; he digested nothing, throwing up all he ate. There was terrible pain in the bowels, burning heat in the throat, heartburn, and rack. ing headache. The patient was now taking a mixture every four hours, powders one after each meal to digest the food, operating pills one every night, and temperature pills two each night to stop the cold sweats. If drugs could ours him at all. Richard had an idea that he took enough to do it. But on the other hand plenrisy set in and the doctors took ninety. ounces of matter from his right side, and then told him he was sure to die. Five months more rolled by, and there was another change of visiting physicians. 'I'he new one gave Wade a mixture which he said made him tremble like a leaf on a tree. At this crisis Wade's Scotch blood asserted teelf. He refused to stand any more dosing and told the doctors that if he mu-t die he could die as well without them as with them. By this time a sup of milk would turn sour on his stomuch, and lie there for days. Our friend from Glasgow was like a wrock on a shost, fast going to pieces. We will let him tell the rest of his experience in the words in which he communicated it to the press.

tle says: "When I was in this state a lady whom I had never seen came to the hospital and talked with me. She proved to be an angel of mercy, for without her I should not now be alive. She told me of a medicine called ' Mother Seigel's Carative Syrup, and brought me a bottle next day. I started with it, without consulting the doctors, and in only a few days' time I was out of bed calling for ham and eggs for breakfast. From that time, keeping on with Mother Seigel's great remedy, I got well fast, and was soon able to leave the hospital and come home to Glasgow. I now fool as if I was in another world, and have no illness of any kind."

The above facts are calmly and impartially stated, and the reader may draw his own conclusion. We deem it best to use no names, although Mr. Wade gave them in his original deposition. His address is No. 244, Stoboross Street, Glasgow, where letters will reach him. 2544 - 3
